

ABSTRACT

There is disclosed a process and an apparatus for (1) facilitating patient and professional health care provider interaction and communication about a diagnosis that requires a professional decision, and (2) providing patients with a means for making their own health care decisions by empowering patients with the means for potential self diagnosis of symptoms.

002207 103700
095937 2026560